About Zakir Husain Delhi College

Zakir Husain Delhi College, part of the University of Delhi, stands as a distinguished institution with a rich history dating back to 1792. Originally founded as Delhi College by the British East India Company, its primary aim was to promote Western knowledge and Education among the locals. The college's name was later changed to honor Dr. Zakir Husain, a celebrated educationist and India's former President, reflecting its ongoing commitment to academic excellence and social progress.

Situated in the heart of Delhi, the college offers a diverse range of programs across disciplines including humanities, social sciences, and commerce. Known for its rigorous academic environment, the institution fosters critical thinking, innovation, and a holistic approach to education. It serves as a vibrant center for intellectual and cultural activities, actively engaging students in various co-curricular and extracurricular pursuits.

The Certificate Course on Counselling is initiated by the Department of Psychology, Zakir Husain Delhi College. The Department of Psychology at Zakir Husain Delhi College is entering its 65th year of establishment since the year 1959, when it launched the undergraduate course, holding the distinction in introducing the study of psychology as an academic discipline at the University of Delhi. Under the tutelage of distinguished and devoted faculty members, students have the opportunity to learn from individuals renowned for their scholarly accomplishments and extensive expertise.
